Exhibition Profile

Rich in Source

From March 10 to 11, 2022, the event shows nearly a full range of rehab products, including rehabilitation engineering equipment, modern Chinese medicine equipment, rehabilitation physical therapy equipment, rehabilitation AIDS, barrier-free products, prosthetics and orthopedic devices, household medical equipment, rehabilitation nursing equipment, design and supporting categories. It serves eight independent administrative fields: health commission system, disabled persons' federation system, civil affairs system, human and social injury system, special education system, sports rehabilitation system, security system for veterans, international import and export trade.

Integrate and Utilize Global Resources

The R&OC 2022 has successfully concluded, which has made a big impact on the rehabilitation market in 2022. It is a significant rehabilitation exhibition. The organizing committee will also take greater responsibility and play a greater role in the future rehabilitation industry. Through the integration of various rehabilitation resources and forces, the latest trend of domestic and international rehabilitation industry will be presented, and the industry exchange and integration development will be promoted, so as to drive the development of "healthy China".

Well-established and Reliable

As the first rehabilitation medical equipment trade exhibition held every year in China, exhibitors have "highlighted" the latest and cutting-edge rehabilitation aids and other products, which are very eye-catching. The interactive experience activities for all ages make the atmosphere of the exhibition more enthusiastic than any previous event. During the exhibition, more than 50 companies have already booked their booths for the 13th R&OC 2023. High level exhibition service, high-quality exhibition audience and high-value business platform are recognized by more and more industry colleagues and exhibitors.

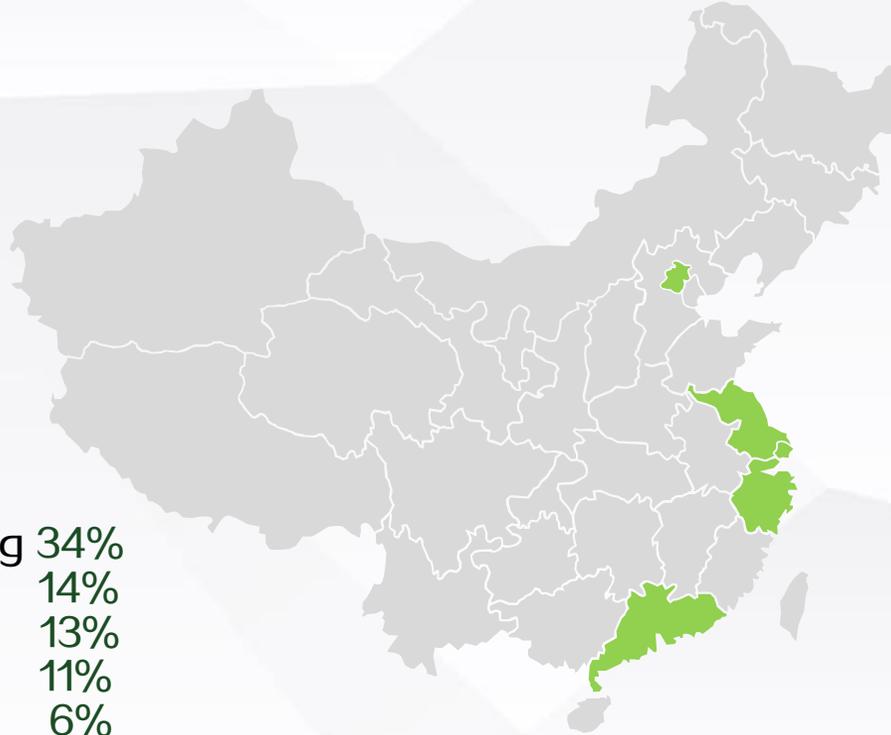

Widely Influential

Thousands of rehabilitation products gathered in the R&OC 2022. Compared with previous exhibitions, R&OC 2022 further reflects the high level and accuracy. It also promotes diversified industry integration, international exchange and cooperation, and promotes the rehabilitation industry to burst out great development vitality, and gradually builds up the most influential brand in the rehabilitation industry. The success of the exhibition will inject strong vitality into the rehabilitation industry and market in the post epidemic period!
